

The Pioneer Award

edeus is a new lender with a technology platform that is second to none

As a new entrant into the mortgage market, credit must go to edeus for its total dedication to pushing the boundaries of mortgage technology. This commitment has led to an intermediary platform that is truly seamless, allowing brokers to go from application to full completion in minutes.

Automatic cascading – both upwards and down – ensures that your clients' criteria are matched to the most suitable and competitive products. Fully credit-scored decisions will then show the maximum loan available, and intermediaries can amend this without further footprint or re-keying.

By harnessing AVM technology, edeus can make a full offer within minutes on those properties that qualify for automated valuations. If desired, consumers can order fast funds for remortgages, which will be released within five days. Indeed, the lender recently completed its first 24-hour remortgage.

With edeus' commitment to technology you can be sure it will continue to innovate next year and beyond.
